Real estate is pretty solid this winter. The frost is nearly five feet deep.

Hope springs eternal in the breast of Ohio. It wants a prominent place in the new cabinet.

If you want to make a Chicago newspaper reporter mad, just mention the "beautiful snow" poem.

One would suppose, from the present condition of the weather, that Charles Francis Adams was running loose in the west.

The fifth annual commencement of the Wisconsin dental college will take place at Delavan, Tuesday evening, February 24th, 1885.

There is now a discussion going on as to whether Gordon was killed or murdered. Of course, it makes some difference with Gordon, for as Colonel Sellers would say, it is better to be killed than murdered.

Ananias told a lie one day, and in a few minutes thereafter he died. Vennor said we were going to have a mild winter, and in a few days after he made the statement he died. It pays to tell the truth.

Colonel Ingersoll, now that he is going away, says he will give religion a rest. The colonel need not quit talking on account of religion needing a rest. It is not hurt, or in anywise wearied, by Ingersoll's blabber.

The other day Jeff Davis made a speech over the old liberty bell at New Orleans. If the old bell could only speak, wouldn't it give Jeff Davis a dressing that would make him blush with shame to his very bones?

A queer state of things happened in Boston soon after Joseph Cook began his Monday lectures. The air was so thick with knowledge that it could be cut with a knife, and people stumbled over his big words which found their way on the streets.

Chief Justice Beasley, of New Jersey, has been on the bench 21 years, and has reappointed for another term of seven years. He is over 70, but hale and vigorous, Wisconsin would do well to follow the example of New Jersey, and re-elect Judge Taylor.

People are so honest in Norway that cigars and liquors are placed in the public rooms of hotels without any one to guard them. Each man goes up to the office once a day and tells the clerk what he has had and pays for it. There is no locks on the doors in the houses there, as burglars are unknown. From this one will judge that there are no Americans in Norway.

The bill to retire General Grant has suffered a defeat in the house. On the motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill, the house voted nay, which virtually kills it for the present session—an action to be deeply regretted. Many democrats who appreciate the services of General Grant, voted for a suspension of the rules, but some of the republicans opposed it, and by this means its defeat was brought about.

The majority of those who intend attending the inauguration will count the cost, and to them the matter of through cars other than sleepers—wherein perforce expense must be incurred to the extent of the accomodations secured—becomes an item not to be dismissed without thought. The course of the B. & O. management, always progressive and liberal, puts the fastest time and finest accommodation, upon the basis so eagerly sought, to wit: not one cent extra, and no rule made, as upon other lines, that passengers shall not go upon certain trains without paying big money additional. On the B. & O., inauguration tickets will be good upon all trains, and no rule made, as upon other lines to confine reduced rates to slow trains and inferior accommodations.

It is reported that the successor to the late S. S. Merrill as general manager of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway will not be appointed until the next annual meeting of the company, in June. Until that time, without doubt, the office will remain vacant. For the past year, Mr. Merrill has given no attention to the management of the railroad company's affairs, the duties of the general manager having been attended to by other officials of that department. The chief executive during this time has been Roswell Miller, assistant general manager of the company. Either Mr. Miller or Mr. J. C. Gault will doubtless be selected as Mr. Merrill's successor. Should Mr. Miller be the man, he in turn will no doubt be succeeded, as assistant general manager, by Mr. Merrill's able and private secretary, Mr. B. J. Lennox, who has held that responsible position for many years, and whose ability entitles him to promotion.

There is general regret in the north as well as in the south, that the New Orleans exposition, is practically a failure as a financial scheme; but it has been suggested by some thoughtful men that it may prove profitable to the nation after all. Here is a very significant way of looking at the matter: "The exposition has not attracted immense crowds from the north; yet many hundred intelligent men have visited New Orleans, and not only examined the exhibits at the fair, but also the methods of the city and state government. The shrewd politicians who have hoodwinked a good many northern visitors heretofore cannot handle all that come now, and the outrageous abuses which have long existed there are becoming thoroughly understood. The visitor returning home will carry with him the information that the courts of Louisiana are utterly corrupt and that the government rings are composed of murders and thieves whose political crimes are among the least they have been guilty of. This will be likely to rouse public sentiment in the north to so high a pitch that the south in time may feel the good effects of it. In that case the fair will not have been a failure."

Medical science has hitherto been unable to treat successfully the dreadful cancer disease, and every new remedy is announced with widespread interest. For some time there has been a sort of run on vegetable remedies for cancer, and it was supposed by many that a trustworthy therapeutic had been discovered in ourdurango. Experiment however, did not sustain the original reports of that drug, and it has almost passed out of sight and recollection. Another candidate for public favor has now appeared in the form of a Brazilian plant called Alveloz, concerning the curative virtues of which great things are being written. Consul Atherton of Pernamquco, was requested by the state department to send some of the plant to Washington, where it has been tested by Dr. Smith Townsend, health officer of the District of Columbia, on one patient, with alleged good results. Of course, however, this success, if as complete as stated, does not prove the new remedy to be what is claimed for it. Prolonged experiment in a considerable number of cases will be required to settle that question, and the fate of cundurango, red clover blossom (which was much beputfed not long ago) and many other alleged remedies should warn the public against premature confidence in Alveloz.

GRANT AND JOHN KELLY.

The Former Said to Have Cancer in the Mouth—Kelly's Condition.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—"The general is very sick," said a friend of Gen. Grant Monday, referring to a report that the ex-president was again suffering from the terrible cancer in his mouth. A couple of months ago the general, who had been suffering for six months from a rapid cancerous growth, submitted to a critical and very painful operation, whereby it was hoped the malignant disease would be extirpated. For four weeks after the operation the patient appeared to be progressing favorably to convalescence, but then the wound ceased to heal further, and gave great pain while swallowing food. Dr. Fordyce Barker, the general's family physician, called in Dr. Douglass, who is celebrated in skin and cancer ailments, and from that time they have been in daily attendance upon him. Lately Gen. Grant has been making daily visits to Dr. Douglass' office at 48 East Twenty-Sixth street, but Sunday he was feeling so poorly and depressed that both doctors were sent for. The affected tonsil was found to be in a bad condition, and the physicians remained over an hour with the general, cheering him as much as possible. Gen. Grant's friends forbode a gloomy termination of the illness. The general's advanced age and physical prostration make his case more difficult to treat. A trip south is recommended, but the general objects strenuously to leaving the city.

Notwithstanding the denials of the friends of John Kelly there appears little room for doubt that he is very sick. Even Tammany people are giving up hope, and many admit that Mr. Kelly will not recover. All winter long he has been hovering between life and death. Malaria was given out as the malady from which he was suffering, but it is more than certain that he also had a complication of disorders that baffled the physicians.

THE FIRE PLUGS WERE FROZEN,

And a Pennsylvania Town Loses $100,000 by Fire.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 17.—The explosion of a lamp, Monday afternoon, set fire to the hardware store of J. C. Bright, and as the fire plugs were all frozen up the flames were soon beyond control. A terrific powder explosion followed, scattering burning timbers everywhere and injuring three men, one fatally. The fire spread, destroying Bright's store, The Miners' Journal stationery store, J. Wingent's drug store and the Merchant's hotel, a large brick building. Loss, $100,000.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Feb. 17.—Fire Monday night in the American Print works, caused by an overflow of water upon chemicals, resulted in $30,000 loss.

Dynamite Stolen.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Eight cases of dynamite, enough to blow up 100 buildings, have been stolen from the magazine of the American Dynamite company at Bay Chester, West Chester county. Every effort is being made to find the thieves.

Dancing in Honor of November.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 17.—The Academy of Music was brilliantly illuminated and gaily decorated Monday evening, on the occasion of the grand reception and ball given under the auspices of the Americus club, in honor of the Democratic victory in November last. But few persons of prominence outside of the city were present. Among the most distinguished gentlemen present were Senators Jonas and Garland, Gen. George B. McClellan, Governor Abbett of New Jersey, Hon. Thomas M. Hardiman and Orlando B. Potter.

Obituary.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 17.—James E. Gowen, brother of Franklin B. Gowen, and one of the general counsel of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad company, died Monday afternoon at his residence in Mount Airy, this city, after an illness of several weeks. Mr. Gowen was one of the most distinguished members of the Philadelphia bar.

He Thanks His Paper.

Mr. Editor:—I was induced by reading your good paper to try Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic for debility, liver disorder, and scrofula, and three bottles have cured me. Accept my thanks. Jos. C. Boggs. —Ex.

As a remedy for coughs and colds, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has never been equalled. Its name is a household word throughout the world.

Wanted a High-Priced Document.

[New York Sun.]

An Indiana railroad company once employed Gen. Foster to draw up a contract for them. He drew it on one sheet of paper and charged $250. The company paid and growled. He told them to try a certain high-priced lawyer the next time. They did so. The other lawyer sent around and borrowed the copy of the old contract from George, turned in a neatly engrossed sheet, and charged $2,500. But the company felt satisfied that they had a contract that would hold water.

A Greater Boon.

[Chicago Times.]

A London scientist is endeavoring to produce cats without tails. This is certainly a noble phase of scientific experiment, but he might confer a greater boon upon humanity if he would produce tails without cats.

FAILED IN THE HOUSE,

NOT ENOUGH VOTES TO PASS THE GRANT RETIREMENT BILL.

Rosecrans Makes a Bitter Speech Against the Bill, and Accuses Grant of Willful Falsehood—Important Pension Decision—Capital Items.

WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 17.—Gen. Grant's friends are not at all displeased at the failure of the house to pass Gen. Slocum's bill to place Gen. Grant on the retired list. In urging the friends of Grant to stand together in support of the bill, and warning them that division meant defeat, Randall reminded them that it was more important to pass the bill than to enable the president to preserve his consistency. He has given notice that during the remainder of the session he will use every exertion to secure the passage of the Slocum or the Edmunds bills, and the friends of Grant say they are willing to wait until the Edmunds bill comes up for a vote.

Horr led the opposition. He opposed the Slocum bill, and charged that it was pressed for the reason that it was known that the president would veto it. It was a Democratic trick he believed, to deceive the public by professed friendship to Grant and to put the president in a tight place. Thomas of Illinois, took the same ground. Slocum replied that, if the president should carry out his threat to veto the bill, the same two-thirds vote which could pass the bill could also override the veto. A Republican president had threatened the house with a veto unless a particular form of bill was passed, but in three weeks there will be a president who will neither threaten congress nor stickle about forms in such a manner. He bluntly charged that Republican opposition really sprang from men who desired to punish Grant for having tried to do justice to Fitz John Porter. Rosecrans was very bitter in his remarks about Grant. While he disclaimed being impelled by any personal dislike to Grant, his speech was saturated with vindictiveness. Claiming to be qualified as one of the four corps commanders now living to form a just judgment, he asserted that history would show that Grant's military reputation had been exaggerated by a political party which used him for its purposes. He charged him with inspiring the unreliable biography of himself written by Badeau, one of his aids, and with having stated in his military reports things which he knew to be false. Gen. Rosecrans did not forget to refer to what he styled the confidence-mill of Grant & Ward, and insinuated guilty participation in Ward's rascalities. Slocum eulogized Grant's military career, and Bayne of Pennsylvania, said that the bill did not interfere with any constitutional prerogative of the president, but simply authorized him to exercise his discretion in appointing Grant, and that the bill was drawn in the same language which had been used in all similar bills from the foundation of the government, several of which President Arthur had himself approved.

The debate continued only a half hour in all, but was very spirited, and intense interest was manifested. The secret of the Republican opposition, independent of the reason assigned by Gen. Slocum, was that the bill was drawn in the same form as that used in the Fitz John Porter case. The large opposition vote is ascribed partly to an indisposition to appear to put an affront upon the president by passing a bill which they know in advance he would veto. Their position is the same in this respect as that assumed by Thomas of Illinois, and Horr of Michigan. But by far the greater part of the negative vote sprang from disapproval of Grant's political and civil career, and some of it from memories of the war. An analysis of the vote shows that eighty-nine Republicans and sixty-nine Democrats voted for the bill, while ninety-nine Democrats and four Republicans voted against it. The score stood 158 to 103, which was sixteen less than the necessary two thirds. The Republicans who voted "no" were Thomas of Illinois, Hauback of Kansas, Price of Iowa, and York of North Carolina. Thirty-eight members were paired, and others refused to vote. Of the Illinois delegation, Adams, Dunham, Shaw and Morrison were absent; Moulton, Neece, Riggs and Springer voted "no." Townshend was paired, and the remaining members of the delegation voted for the bill.

Representative Randall has signified his intention of trying to pass, under a suspension of the rules during the last six days of the session, the second Edmunds bill, passed by the senate, for the retirement of Gen. Grant, which gives the president authority to place a general of the army on the retired list without specifying him by name. This is the bill the president desires to have passed.

Broad Ground in a Pension Case.

WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 17.—Secretary Teller Monday rendered an important pension decision in the case of William P. Hargrave, of Indiana, who appealed from the decision of the commissioner of pensions, which officer rejected his application for pension on the ground that Hargrave's injury was not received while in the line of duty.

The facts gathered in the case show that Hargrave, on July 4, 1865, with others, was proceeding in an ambulance to headquarters with a view of celebrating the day, in compliance with the wishes of his superior officer. The horses attached to the vehicle became unmanageable and precipitated the ambulance with its occupants down an embankment, some forty feet. The appellant claims a pension on account of a disability resulting from an injury received then and there. The secretary, in a letter to the commissioner of pensions respecting the case, takes the broad ground that any soldier, whether officer or private, who engages in recreation, joins social gatherings, religious meetings, or any innocent amusement, and in going to or from them, with the assent of his superior officer, does not thereby placed himself outside of the line of duty, and that it is not necessary that a soldier should have a gun on his shoulder and a knapsack on his back at the moment when he incurs disease, or receives an injury. Concluding, the secretary says:

If he was shot by the enemy while attending a religious meeting held by permission of the officer in command, or while engaged in any innocent amusement not prohibited by law, or consistent with army discipline, he would be entitled to a pension.

The National Legislature.

WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 17.—The senate Monday passed the Indian appropriation bill, with Vest's amendment to increase the emergency fund to $50,000, but struck out the section authorizing the president to negotiate for the opening of the Oklahoma lands.

The house of representatives, by a vote of 156 to 103, refused to suspend the rules and pass the bill for the retirement of Gen. Grant. Some leading Republicans explained that they favored the senate bill for the same purpose, now pending. Bills were passed to regulate the letting of mail contracts, and to appropriate $200,000 for a medical library building in Washington, and $75,000 for a postoffice at Aberdeen, Miss.

Will Try It Again in the Senate.

WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 17.—Just before adjournment of the senate Monday Sawyer from the committee on postoffices and post-roads reported favorably Frye's proposed amendment to the postoffice appropriation bill. It authorizes the postmaster general to allow $600,000 of the receipts from foreign mails to vessels of American registry for carrying mails to foreign ports and to ports on the Pacific. The amendment is identical with the clause which was stricken out of the postoffice appropriation bill in the house, better known as the "Pacific mail subsidy clause."

Enterprising Americans.

WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 17.—The British minister gave an audience Monday to Gen. R. E. Colston and Capt. Silas O. Hemenway of St. Louis, the latter being the envoy of a party of western steamboat men, who propose to furnish steamers and manage them for the transportation of the projected English relief expedition to the Soudan.

The Crow Indian Land Cases.

WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 17.—The committee of citizens appointed to investigate the charge that the Crow Indians were terrorized into signing leases to their lands by Agent Armstrong, have submitted a report in which Mr. Armstrong is thoroughly exonerated.

Suspension of Nickel and Copper Coinage.

WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 17.—The secretary of the treasury has issued a circular announcing the temporary suspension of the coinage of the 1 and 5-cent minor coins of the United States, as required by section 3,529, revised statutes.

Declared Tainted with Fraud.

WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 17.—The house committee on foreign affairs has adopted a report declaring the awards made by the last Venezuela commission to be tainted with fraud, and recommending the appointment of a new commission.

LATEST CABINET SLATE.

Cleveland to Give the Names of His Advisers to the Public This Week.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 17.—Some people who profess to know declare that up to this time President-elect Cleveland has not made a definite selection of any single member of his cabinet. Others insist that Cleveland has given the secretary of state to Senator Bayard. A prominent Democrat here predicts the following as the names of Cleveland's cabinet:

Secretary of State—Bayard, of Delaware
Secretary of the Treasury—Manning, of New York.
Secretary of the Interior—McDonald, of Indiana.
Secretary of the Navy—Gorman, of Maryland.
Secretary of War—Thurman, of Ohio.
Postmaster General—Vilas, of Wisconsin.

Senator Thurman was expected in Albany Monday night, but is supposed to be detained by the storm.

Col. Lamont said he had not learned of the reported visit of Mr. Thurman until he read of it in an evening Albany paper. "Mr. Thurman is not at Albany," said Col. Lamont. "He has not been sent for and his arrival is not expected." In connection with this rumored visit of Mr. Thurman, it was stated that Mr. Cleveland had concluded to ask Thurman to accept the portfolio of the secretary of the interior, and would give to McDonald the navy department, but well-informed friends of Mr. Cleveland say that Ohio will not have a place in the cabinet, and that McDonald will probably become secretary of the interior.

Governor Cleveland has expressed his determination to give to the public a list of the members of his cabinet before the end of the present week. He is now busily engaged writing his inaugural address, and has already completed the first draft of it.

A telegram from Washington says Thurman laughs at the report that he may go into the cabinet.

Notice is hereby given that on Tuesday, the 3d day of March, next, at 10 o'clock a. m., at my office in the court house, in the city of Janesville, in said county, the jurors for the April term, 1885, of said court, will be drawn in the manner provided by law.

A. W. BALDWIN, Clerk.

YES, SIR.

One can't expect to succeed no business or in pleasure either, for that matter, unless one feels all right in health and spirits. This is the first consideration. Now, its a small matter when this remedy, ZOPESA, is recommended so highly, even guaranteed to renew one's energy and spirits by invigorating the Liver and aiding Digestion, by clearing the brain, opening the pores of the skin, regulating the bowels and system, to go to the drug store of PRENTICE & EVENSON, opposite postoffice, and get a single bottle of Zopesa as a trial. It is a duty every one owes to himself. Try a 25 cent sample bottle. If you suffer from Indigestion, Heart burn or Sick Headache, don't fail to try it. ONE DOSE will relieve you immediately, and one bottle will cure any ordinary case.

"Hub" Cough Cure, the favorite Prescription of a Boston physician, dispensed for years by a Boston druggist. ONE DOSE will cure any ordinary cough. It acts almost magically. Ask Prentice & Evenson for a 50 cent bottle of "Hub" Cough Cure. It acts so quickly as to astonish you.

They all do it. Everybody uses "TEABERRY" for the teeth and breath, the newest, brightest, cosest little toilet gem extant. Prentice & Evenson, opposite postoffice.

MIRTH'S MONARCH.

THE LORD OF MISRULE IN POSSESSION OF NEW ORLEANS.

Brilliant Illustrations of the Myths and Religion of the Celestial Empire—The City Full of People and Jollity.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 17.—Rex and his retinue reached this city Monday by the Illinois Central railroad. He came as King Charles XII of France, and proceeded to the city hall, where the mayor turned over to him the keys of the city. After the parade through the principal streets with his courtiers and men-at-arms the party took fifteen large steamers for the exposition grounds where 100,000 people had assembled to welcome him. The procession proceeded to the Music hall where Rex held royal court and received callers. Speeches were made by a number of prominent gentlemen. The Mexican national band furnished the music throughout the day. There were fully 125,000 people at the grounds. The city is full of strangers, the number being variously estimated from 80,000 to 100,000.

At night the annual Mardi Gras pageants were begun by Proteus, the God of Transformation and his followers. This year Proteus was Tienr Azo, "the Son of Heaven," and his pageant illustrated by tableaux, the Celestial's story of the Chinese, the creation and the reign of Chinese deities.

The streets along the line were filled to overflowing. The usual wait caused no inconvenience, the crowd being good-natured, and spending their time in examining the numerous brilliantly illuminated business houses. Shortly after the appointed time, a Chinese lantern twenty feet in height was seen in the distance slowly approaching. This transparency was borne on the backs of four white elephants, and was covered with brilliant lines down its sides, narrating the subject chosen for presentation. The car of Proteus followed. His majesty, dressed as Tien Azo, bestrode the Tong Hoang (the Chinese phœnix), which is familiar to every one as the great yellow dragon, made of crystal, gold, silver and precious stones.

Following Proteus came the tableaux, the first car representing the car of Ponan Kon, the first being who was hatched from the shell of the earth. The sphere was floating through chaos, and seated on it was Ponan Kon, dressed in the prevailing fashion of 276,000 years ago, which became the style again in Adam's day.

Tableau II—The tower of Fo Koin represented the burial of Buddha, and gave an excellent idea of the porcelain tower, once one of the wonders of the world, but which was razed by the Tapings a decade ago. The tower was eight stories high and built exclusively of porcelain. Each story had a gallery, from which were suspended thousands of bells, which rang merrily as the car passed.

Tableau III—The good and evil spirits of Buddhism are the Lai and Asseiri. The first inhabits the score and odd heavens situated in the center of Mount Mi-En-Mo, 50,000 miles straight heavenward, while the devils are comfortably housed beneath the mount. This tableau was an excellent illusion.

Tableau IV—A representative of the mausoleum of the Tartar kings of China, showing the splendid rites of Chinese sepulture, far excelling those of the most enlightened nations.

Tableau V—Here is seen the heaven of the Chinese with the principal deities of their worship. Unlike other nations, they locate their heaven in a vast cavern, whose roof is studded with brilliant crystals.

Tableau VI—Represented the magnificent palace of the grand lama of Thibet, the high priest of Buddhism. The palace, built upon a rugged mountain, consists of many temples, the chief of which, overlooking the others, has a dome of gold. Here the representative of Buddha sat surrounded by priests.

Tableau VII—The birth of Kong-Fau-Tsin, or Confucius, the Chinese law-giver and teacher, was the subject of this tableau.

Tableau VIII—The festival of lanterns formed the subject of this tableau. Down the Hoangho (the blue river), came a Chinese junk, upon whose prow, clad in the richest vestments, stood a Chinese prince and princess and their attendants and crew.

Tableau IX—The Emperor Fo-Hi, son of the daughter of Ti, or the Lord, was seen in this tableau. His body was that of a dragon, and his head that of a bull, yet he is represented as an eminent teacher, elevating and instructing the Chinese.

Tableau X—A distinct feature of Chinese religious worship was shown in the picture of the an-cestral hall. However old man or woman may be he is subject to his parents, must reverence them, and venerate his ancestors. It is New Year's Day and the emperor was represented as visiting the hall attended by all the monarchs tributary to his rule.

Tableau XI—Konan-Ti, is the Chinese god of war. His chariot drawn by winged horses in midair, was the subject of this tableau. Konan-Ti was shooting invisible arrows at the tribe of barbarians found by the Chinese when they first came to China. The battle as seen was life like, the barbarians seeking to scale the clouds, and destroy the martial god, whose aid is given to their enemies, the invading Mongolians.

Tableau XII—Presents the famous temple to Buddhai at Canton. At the front of the edifice was a porch, supported by granite pillars, leading up to a grand nave, at the end of which were three golden statues, representing the trinity—Buddha, Dharma and Sanga. Before the altar were priests paying homage to the deity.

Tableau XIII—Represented Gin-Hoang and his eight brothers seated in a misty chariot, drawn by birds. He was the first emperor of China, and the reign of his progeny extended over a space of nearly 50,000 years.

Tableau XIV—The Chinese Hymen is Nin-Va, and she was represented as having the body of a reptile and the head of a bull.

Tableau XV—Was a beautiful representation of the Buddhist paradise, in which are all the things calculated to add to the perpetual enjoyment of an Oriental.

Tableau XVI—The hell of the Chinese is a curious conglomeration of snow and ice in different sections, to which the wicked are consigned according as they are warm or cold blooded.

This was the last scene, and the Krewe disbanded at the French Opera house, and prepared for the grand ball, to which 5,000 invitations were issued. This ball, with that of Comus and Momus, were the grandest of the year.

The Illinois Senatorship Still Hangs Fire.

The Art of Getting Vigorous

Is comprised in one very simple piece of advice, improve digestion. No elaborate system of dietetics is needed. If you lack vigor, use systematically that pleasant promoter of it, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. If you take this hint, and do not commit any excesses, there is no reason why you should not gain in strength, appetite and weight. Hosts of whilom invalids are to-day building a foundation for years of vigorous health with this sound and thorough renovator of a dilapidated physique and failing energy. Dyspepsia is eradicated by it, and the constitution fortified against disorders to which it it were exposed, it must surely succumb—notably malarial fever. Rheumatism, inactivity of the kidneys and bladder, nervousness, and their various symptoms, disappear when it is used with persistency, not abandoned after a brief and irregular trial.

CONDENSED NEWS.

The sash factory of Mills, Spillmire & Co., in Cincinnati, worth $60,000, was burned.

The explosion of a powder magazine at Gibraltar caused the death of seventeen men, nine of whom were civilians.

Jay Gould has given formal notice that he will this week go southward and leave the stock market to itself. Speculators are greatly puzzled over the situation.

J. F. De la Plaine, formerly secretary of the United States legation at Vienna, left the bulk of his large estate to found a home for the friendless in New York.

The Russian government has ordered 3,000 Krupp guns, of the largest pattern, with which to strengthen its position in central Asia. Orders have gone forth to make Sebastopol a free port.

Judge Prendergast, of Chicago, having learned that a verdict for $100 damages against a landlord was reached by a jury by the foreman flipping a penny, promptly granted a new trial.

Some of the Germans who attended the funeral in Paris of Jules Valles, the Socialistic editor, carried their national flag in the rear of the coffin. People in the streets stoned the banner, and caused a free fight.

Fire damaged the corset factory of M. K. Bortree, at Madison, Wis., to the amount of $18,000. The burning of Sheehan's cotton warehouse at Eufaula, Ala., caused a loss of $100,000. Three factories at Salem, Mass.; Cole's hotel at Wellsboro, Pa., and eight stores at Caledonia, Ontario, were reduced to ashes.

Colored jurors were recently introduced in a justice's court at Dallas, Tex., causing considerable discussion. James B. Simpson, a leading Democrat, advocates the right of the negro to serve in the jury box, and reminds the people that the fate of the freed man has been committed to the southern Democracy.

At the annual meeting of stockholders of the combination known as the Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific railway, a resolution was passed authorizing the directors to surrender the lease of the Cincinnati Southern road to the municipal authorities, because of their failure to provide proper terminal facilities.

In the Illinois senate Monday, Streeter introduced a resolution for an investigation of the management of the Soldiers' Orphans' home, alleging that a girl named Elizabeth E. Fish was given away without the knowledge of her legal guardian, who finally found her at work in a cotton-field in Florida, ignorant of the fact that she had any relatives.

The Dudley Remanded.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—The prosecution in the case of the people against Mrs. Dudley, the would-be assassin of O'Donovan Rossa, signified its readiness to go on with the case to Judge Patterson in the Yorkville police court Monday morning. Neither Rossa nor Mrs. Dudley were in court. Ex-Judge Fullerton appeared for the defense, and on the declaration of the district attorney that he would not call Rossa to the stand, even though he was in court, expressed his willingness to proceed at once to trial. He asked that Mrs. Dudley be sent for. Ex-Judge Fullerton added that he and a Mr. Butts had been retained as counsel for the woman. The woman was then sent for.

Mrs. Dudley shortly afterwards entered the court-room through the private entrance. She was given a seat at the table with her counsel. The court-room was crowded, but not one among the spectators was recognized as a member of Rossa's organization. Three women occupied front seats. The proceedings were begun by Mr. Fullerton asking if O'Donovan Rossa was present. Assistant District Attorney Purdy replied that he was not. Mr. Fullerton wanted him called, but Mr. Purdy said the prosecution had a perfect case without Rossa. The case would be made unnecessarily long if Rossa appeared in it.

The first witness was Dr. Donnison, of the Chambers Street hospital. He described Rossa's entrance to the hospital the evening of the shooting. Deputy Marshal McAuley testified to having arrested Mrs. Dudley. Then the people rested. "We do not propose to submit any evidence at this stage of the proceedings," said counsel for the defense. Mrs. Dudley was then arraigned. She answered the usual formula. When asked what she had to say in answer to the charge, she said: "By advice of my counsel, I stand mute." Bail was then fixed at $3,000, and Mrs. Dudley was remanded.

GROANS FOR GLADSTONE,

AND CHEERS FOR SOCIAL REVOLUTION IN LONDON.

Witnesses Identifying Cunningham as the Probable Author of the Gower Street Explosion—Gen. Stewart's Life in Danger—Gordon's Betrayer.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—A deputation of workingmen, escorted by a procession of 3,000 unemployed laborers, accompanied by bands and carrying banners, marched to the offices of the local government board Monday. Arrived there, the deputation entered and demanded relief for the unemployed of London through the institution of public works. The officials in charge of the board rooms were somewhat dismayed by the demonstration, but politely informed the deputation that no official answers to the demand could at the time be given, because Sir Charles Dilke, president of the board, was away, and during his absence nothing could be done. This reply was received in sullen silence, and the crowd, which by this time had become a mob, rushed in a body into Dowling street, despite all efforts of the police to prevent them, and, until dispersed, stood howling around the official residence of the prime minister, whom they saluted with groans and hisses.

There was a large meeting of unemployed workmen in the afternoon on the Thames embankment. Resolutions were adopted demanding a reduction of the hours of labor of government workmen, and the construction of useful public works to give employment to the idle.

Mr. Hyndman, chairman of the Democratic federation, presided. Cheers for social revolution were given and violent speeches made. The speakers insisted that railway and other public companies should be forbidden to employ men over eight hours a day. One asserted that Jay Gould had recently defeated similar measures in New York state, and that he had his prototypes in the Goschens, the Rothschilds and the Brasseys in this country. Some of the policemen drew their staves when the crowd became noisy and demonstrative. The mob when charged by the police fled precipitately. Some stones were thrown at the police, and several of them were knocked down during the disturbance. No arrests were made.

Identifying Cunningham.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—When the Bow street police court was opened Monday morning for the re-examination of Cunningham and Burton, the prosecution produced witnesses to connect Cunningham with the Gower street railway explosion.

Policeman Seward was sworn, and testified that he was on the train which reached Gower street street station at the time of the explosion. He boarded the train at Bishopsgate. He then saw Cunningham leaving from the window of the brake. Witness looked into the brake and saw what appeared to be a basketful of workman's tools. After this witness entered the third-class carriage. Policeman Seward, before taking the stand, identified Cunningham as the man he saw in the brake from among sixteen persons. He singled the prisoner out almost instantly, remarking: "There, I fancy he is the man."

Meyer said that after the explosion he alighted from the train at Gower street. As he did so he noticed three men standing together on the platform. Cunningham was one of them. The three men crossed the line at the rear of the train and escaped. Witness tried to get away by also crossing the line where Cunningham and his companions had succeeded, but was prevented by one of the porters.

Taylor, assistant on the train from which the dynamite was thrown, testified that before the explosion he saw two men in the brake, and swore Cunningham was one of them. Taylor had previously singled Cunningham out from among twelve other men, among whom he had been placed. Taylor testified that he thought he had seen Burton before and believed it was at Aldgate, but upon some other date than that of the Gower street explosion.

Policeman Crawford testified that he saw three men alight from the brake at the Gower street station at the time of the explosion there. "To the best of my belief," said the witness, "Cunningham and Burton were two of them." Before going on the stand Crawford identified Cunningham from among a crowd of nine persons with whom he had been assembled, and had singled Burton from a crowd of fifteen.

Gordon's Betrayer.

SHARON'S COSTLY SARAH.

His Ci Devant Charmer Gets a Cash Award.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17.—In the Sharon divorce suit, Judge Sullivan Monday gave his final decision, awarding Althea Sarah Sharon, the plaintiff, $55,000 counsel fees and $2,500 per month alimony, dating from Jan. 10, 1884. George W. Tyler, chief counsel, gets $20,000 and associate counsel Terry, Flourney and Lovy $10,000 each, and Clements, advisory counsel, $5,000. From this decision there is no appeal. Sharon is given until March 9 to pay the money. Mrs. Sharon is absent from the city, traveling through the state in company with David S. Terry, one of the counsel, who, rumor says, will soon marry his fair, and now wealthy client.

THE COLLEGE BILL.

Some Objections Answered.
BY B. S. HOXIE.
To the Editor,

A Madison correspondent of legislative matter to the Janesville Recorder sees fit to express his opinion as opposed to the bill making provision for the establishment of an agricultural college in our state. Now it makes but very little difference to me who this correspondent is that signs, "Q. P." for his name. My own opinion is he will know more of the wants of the agricultural people of Wisconsin when he gets better posted. It has been my pleasure for more than ten years to be in attendance at the winter meetings of the several state societies, which convene at Madison on the first week in February; and I need not say that the membership of those societies as well as those who attend their meetings is made up of the most intelligent, active business men comprising the agricultural interests of Wisconsin. Therefore, it is not strange that at different times the matter of agricultural colleges should claim their attention. You are well aware that several years ago, congress made appropriations of grants of land, the proceeds of which under certain conditions, were to be used as an endowment fund for agricultural and mechanical colleges in connection. This grant to our state was like an elephant on our hands; we did not know what to do with it. But finally at the last moment of time allowed for us to accept it, the state university proposed to attach an experimental farm, with mechanical department as an adjunct to that institution of learning. This met the requirements of the law sufficient only to secure the grant. But so far as being of any benefit to the farmers of Wisconsin they hardly know of the fact that we had an experimental farm until Prof. Henry was appointed by the board of regents to the chair of agriculture some four years since, and he has given that department enough of life and vitality to bring, in some degree, its wants and objects before the people. So one great theme of discussion has been "can we make our present experimental farm as it now is attached to the State university equal to the demands of the great agricultural interests of our state?" And this question has been answered and can be verified by every one who has visited that farm of thirty acres, that is cannot. The correspondent referred to seems to think that agricultural colleges have been a failure. Will he call them by name, and tell us why, and how, such if any, have been organized and maintained? The only one I know of, if any, since it may be called a failure, is that of Massachusetts, which is not an agricultural state as ours is, and besides, the young men have taken Horace Greeley's advice and are out west.

We do not propose to take the failure in the management of that school, as an argument against all attempts to found an agricultural college in this state. I would rather refer to the agricultural college of Canada, with an average attendance of two hundred students and not room enough to accommodate all who apply in a two years' course. Michigan, with about the same number of students in a four years' course, has a world wide reputation for usefulness. Mississippi with her agricultural and mechanical college has some two hundred and fifty students with a two years course Iowa, Illinois and Kansas each have similar colleges with somewhat like results. Besides there is Storrs agricultural school at Mansfield, Conn., which was established for the public good by the man whose name it bears. These several institutions all have farms attached varying in from two hundred and fifty to nine hundred acres, and the teaching is by practice as well as by theory in all branches taught. The methods and successes of these are somewhat of an example for us who urge the importance of a similar institution in our state. It is again urged by those few who oppose it, that the friends of the measure are not agreed as to what they want. Is that any argument why the bill should not pass? Last November when the conference convened at Madison to consider the matter, out of the thirty invited with no regard as to what their opinion might be as to the final conclusion, twenty-five representative men from all parts of the state were present, and were unanimous in the one fact that we needed an agricultural college in this state worthy of the name. As to minor details there was, as all expected, difference in opinions. Suffice it to say a committee was appointed who had prepared the present bill. From the earliest discussions of this measure until the present time, the scheme has met some opposition from citizens of Madison and those more especially interested in the state university, but it can not meet the wants which are required in a school of agriculture. The mechanical department of our state university is second to none perhaps in the several states of our Union, and we wish to keep it there, and up so its high standard. Our state is not only able but the wants of our very large agricultural population demand an institution such as the bill provides for.

The Estabrook bill as it is called makes provision for an annual appropriation of several thousand dollars, to be expended by experts in the several avocations of the farm, in holding institutes at different points in the state This may be well enough, but let these experts be the professors in our agricultural college and these institutes be mainly held during the term of vacation, without any extra expense, except that of traveling. Then the result of these institutes shall add interest to the agricultural college, and it will be held up to take rank with the best in the land.

HOW WILL THIS DO?

A CORRESPONDENT'S SLATE FOR THE COMING CABINET.

Bayard Said to Have Accepted the State Department, and Manning, McDonald and Vilas on the Slate—Voorhees' Pilgrimage.

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—A special from Albany, N. Y., to The Times says: The correspondent of The Times has received definite information that Senator Bayard Sunday informed President-elect Cleveland that he would accept the portfolio of the state department, and that Mr. Manning has consented to go into the cabinet as secretary of the treasury. It has also been decided that Mr. Garland will be offered the position of attorney general. Mr. McDonald will probably go into the cabinet, but this has not yet been definitely determined upon. Col. Vilas will, it is stated by good authority, be offered the portfolio of the war department. After much discussion the conclusion was arrived at, Sunday afternoon, that Illinois could not be awarded a cabinet position.

The Manning and McDonald movements, and the reported acceptance of the state department by Senator Bayard, indicate that the cabinet may be as follows:

State—Bayard.
Treasury—Manning or McDonald.
Interior—McDonald or Manning.
Attorney General—Garland.
Postmaster General—Jonas, if Lamar does not become secretary of state.
War—Vilas.
Navy—Jones.

Voorhees Urges McDonald.

ALBANY, Feb. 16.—Senator D. W. Voorhees and Mr. T. R. Cobb, of Indiana, reached the city from Washington Tuesday night, and Saturday morning the gentlemen waited on Mr. Cleveland, who accorded them an interview. After the usual interchange of courtesies Senator Voorhees said they had called to urge the appointment of ex-Senator McDonald, of Indiana, for a place in the cabinet. Voorhees thought the appointment would strengthen the Democracy in Indiana, and secure a safe counselor for the new president, and presented a petition signed by twenty-one Democratic senators in favor thereof. Mr. Voorhees said the move was made without McDonald's knowledge, and told the reporter that Cleveland had given no instruction as to what effect it would have.

It is said that the cabinet question is somewhat complicated because of the very positive preferences shown by Tilden when visited recently by Cleveland, the two gentlemen not exactly "hitting it off" on the subject. No one will be accorded an interview after Monday, as the president-elect will have all his time taken up in the preparation of his inaugural address and final decision with reference to the cabinet.

Senator Bayard, Senator Gorman, Hon. William L. Scott, of Pennsylvania, and Hon. Smith M. Weed arrived at the Delavan house Sunday morning. During the forenoon they called at the Willett street mansion and had a long interview with Mr. Cleveland. It is surmised that important matters relating to the formation of the new cabinet were discussed at length, as the interview was an extended one. No information could be obtained from the gentlemen, they all politely declining to be interviewed. The party left on a late train in the evening. After they had finished their interview with the president-elect the gentlemen waited on Mr. Daniel Manning at his residence, where a long consultation took place, after which Mr. Manning called on Mr. Cleveland. It is now thought certain that Mr. Manning will accept the position of secretary of the treasury, although he still declines to be interviewed.

It is still asserted that Bayard and Garland are to go into the cabinet; that Lamar is hesitating about accepting a position, and that McDonald is the coming man for the treasury is added now as something worth depending upon.

THE FALL OF KHARTOUM.

Reports Continue To Be Contradictory—An Eye Witness' Story.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—A telegram was received at the war office Sunday from Gen. Wolseley. He sends an account of the fall of Khartoum as given by a native eye witness to the entrance of the rebels into the town. Khartoum, this informant says, was entered by El Mahdi's forces at daybreak on the morning of Jan. 25. Gen. Gordon was killed by a volley from rebel riflemen while on the way from his headquarters to the Austrian consulate. The Austrian consul was killed in his residence, and the Greek consul is held prisoner by the mahdi.

The story of the messengers from Khartoum who arrived at Korti Saturday, to the effect that Gen. Gordon held Khartoum on Feb. 3, the day they left that city, has caused a sensation throughout England, chiefly because it accords with the persistent belief of the mudir of Dongola that the mahdi had not yet captured Khartoum. But, notwithstanding the fact that several messengers brought the same news of Gordon, the story is generally distrusted, both by government officials and the public at large, chiefly on the ground taken by Sir Charles Wilson that the Arabs were likely to to tell the story most pleasing to Gen. Lord Wolseley, in order to be more favorably received into the British camp.

Butler Mahone and His "Gun."

WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 16.—Butler Mahone, son of the senator, created a panic at Welcker's hotel Saturday. He was intoxicated and became boisterous. Upon an attempt being made to stop his antics, he drew a revolver and fired several times at the employes, narrowly escaping becoming a murderer. He was finally captured and a warrant sworn out for his arrest on a charge of shooting with intent to kill, giving bail in $1,000 for his appearance. It is said his father has been served notice to quit the hotel because of the young man's frequent escapades.

Feeling Over the Soudan War in India.

CALCUTTA, Feb. 16.—The newspapers, Anglo-Indian and native, are mostly loyal in their comments on events in the Soudan, but different opinions are expressed in regard to the dispatch of Italian troops to Egypt. The press is unanimous, however, in the opinion that India should not be saddled with the expense of the campaign. There are rumors that the Indian contingent will garrison Suakim, and not be sent to the front.

Dynamiter Arrested in Hamburg.

HAMBURG, Feb. 16.—The police arrested two dynamiters on board the steamer Bohemia which arrived from New York Saturday. One of them was handed over to the British consul and the others is in custody of the authorities here.

The first bottle relieved him very much, and the second bottle has absolutely cured her. She has not had so good head for thirty years."

SEPULCHERED BY SNOW.

ALTA, UTAH, SWEPT AWAY BY AN AVALANCHE OF SNOW.

Sixteen People Lost by the Disaster—Eight Victims of a Railway Crash—Lake Steamer Missing—The Dead at Philadelphia.

SALT LAKE, Utah, Feb. 16.—For the fourth time in its brief history Alta, a mining town at the head of Little Cottonwood canyon, has been swept away by a snow-slide. At 9:30 o'clock Friday night the lights of a miner in a shaft in the Famous mine were extinguished by a sudden gust of wind. Running to the surface the miner's eyes met a scene of destruction similar to that he had witnessed a year ago the first week in March, when the same man's light had been similarly extinguished. A snow-slide had passed over the mouth of the mine and descended on the little town below, burying it, only seven houses remaining standing, and some of these were badly wrecked. The place is built at the foot of converging gulches and the slides had a fair mark. Tucker's boarding-house was swept away and his hotel crushed. The Vallejo works, including buildings and tramways, were crushed.

The snow broke loose about three-fourths of a mile up Emmet hill, and the entire mass, from the Vallejo mine to Grizzly flat, fully three-quarters of a mile, rushed down with a terrific roar, carrying everything before it, and only resting in the gulch. The avalanche passed over nearly the same ground swept by that of March last, but the snow being eighteen feet deep on the mountain side the destruction was greater. As soon as the miners could be notified they turned out, and at the risk of their lives bravely begun the work of rescue and recovery. A large number of victims were in the boarding-house and hotel. Twenty-eight people were buried, but twelve were dug out alive. It is known that sixteen persons were killed and the following are their names: James Watson, Andrew S. White, Barry Gilson, Mrs. Ford and child, Jerry Reagan, David P. Vance, Tim Madden, Fred Cullinan, Matt Hickey, four children of Ed Ballou, two Chinamen.

The few people remaining in Alta are greatly alarmed, fearing another avalanche, but they cannot get out until relief reaches them from here. The news had shadowed this city with gloom, as many of the dead had friends here. A meeting was held to arrange for a relief expedition to start Monday morning to open a track through the canyon and bring the dead here for burial. Probably 100 men with appliances for cutting snow will form the relief party. There are plenty of volunteers, though the trip is exceedingly dangerous, as slides are occurring at all times.

A Disaster on the Monon Route.

RENSSELAER, Ind., Feb. 16.—The cannon ball train, on the Monon route, which left Chicago Friday night at 11 o'clock, met with a bad accident at this place at 5 o'clock Saturday morning. The train was going at a high rate of speed and was thrown from the track by a broken rail. The cars were then dragged about seventy-five yards. Very little damage was done to the engine, but the baggage-car and the smoking coach were badly wrecked, and were thrown on their sides about ten feet from the track. The rear coach, containing most of the passengers, was overturned, but no great injury was done to it. There were about seventeen passengers on the train.

The following is a list of the injured: Col. L. M. Dayton, of Cincinnati, three very severe cuts on the scalp and various bruises; Mrs. Dayton, his wife, severe bruise on the shoulder; Edwin C. Fuller, of Chicago, had cuts on head and body badly bruised; Mrs. Fuller, his wife, cut on side of head; Conductor Catherwood, of Indianapolis, severe wound on front of face and bruised wrist; Mrs. L. A. Pietre, of Chicago, head gashed; Mrs. M. G. Foster, of San Francisco, an aged lady, bound for Virginia, severe wound on face and head; the shock was so great that it is doubtful if she survives; O. C. Rife, of Indianapolis, cut across forehead; Edward and Mary Hussey, of Indianapolis: the latter had a badly sprained ankle. Physicians were immediately called and at once dressed the wounds of the injured.

Total Dead at the Philadelphia Holocaust.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 16.—No more bodies have been taken from the ruins of the insane department of the alms-house, so that the number of the victims still remains at nineteen. The work of providing shelter for the insane contined Sunday. About 125 women paupers were removed to the house of correction to make room for the insane women. About forty of the women refused to go to the house of correction, and were compelled to leave the place. The attendants keep guard over the men maniacs, and policemen are scattered through the wards to assist in subduing the troublesome ones. About a dozen patients became so violent they had to be removed by sheer force and confined in private apartments. The danger of a riot is iminent. If two or more patients quarrel, and it is not promptly quelled, all will get into a fight.

Lake Steamer Missing.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 16.—Fears are felt for the safety of the large propeller Michigan, which has not been heard from for a week. The Michigan steamed out light a week ago to search for the lost steamer Oneida, which has since been found. She is a flat-bottomed boat and as she was light it is feared she went to the bottom in the fearful gale that raged over Lake Michigan last Monday night. She carried a crew of thirty men and was commanded by Capt. Prendiville, one of the most distinguished captains on the lakes. The steamer is owned by the Detroit & Grand Haven Railway company and is valued at $150,000. The owners are fitting out a searching expedition.

Two Freight Trains Come Together.

SHELBY, Ohio, Feb. 16.—Saturday one of the most disastrous wrecks that ever happened on the Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati & Indianapolis railroad occurred at 4:30 p. m. four miles north of this place. A freight train bound north and one bound south, both running at a high rate of speed, by a misunderstanding of orders, came in collision. Both engines were totally demolished and several cars were piled on top of the engines, nearly hiding them from view. No one was hurt, but the two engines had come together with such force that they could not be pulled apart. Trains were delayed nine hours. Loss to the company will probably reach $40,000.

German Duty on Rye.

BERLIN, Feb. 16.—In the reichstag, Saturday, the clause of the tariff bill fixing the duties upon rye was passed. It provides that the existing duties upon that cereal from countries receiving from Germany the "most favored nation" treatment shall continue. It was announced that, after the corn duties clause is read, a bill will be introduced forbidding the importation of corn.

The secretary of the Irish National league, in a letter to the president of the American organization, states that two speakers can not be spared for a tour of the United States; that the expense of sustaining evicted tenants is very great, and that friends on this side of the Atlantic should make renewed efforts to support the parliamentary fund.

Possible European Complications.

PARIS, Feb. 16.—The feeling of the French on the subject of the Soudan war is intensely hostile to England. El Mahdi is the hero of the hour and there is great exultation. Parisians say it is all very well for John Bull to have his "petit Tonquin" in the Soudan, but, carried too far, the consequences may make it necessary for France to renew the struggle which cost her so dear in the days of Abd-el-Kader. The opposition papers now ask whether M. Ferry did not make a mistake when he went hand in glove with Prince Bismarck, whose interest is to let France wear herself out in China, while Russia spends her strength in Asia and England in Egypt. "The key of Prince Bismarck's policy," said a French exminister of foreign affairs to a correspondent some months ago, "is Constantinople"—a remark worth remembering, and which explains much that is obscure in the action of Germany.

—Miss Mae Colvin, who has been visiting friends in Chicago, arrived home last evening, called by a telegram, announcing the dangerous illness of her mother, Mrs. R. L. Colvin.

—Dr. Stephen G. Martin, an old settler of this city and county, died this noon, at an advanced age. The lateness of the hour prevents us making more than this brief announcement of his death to-day.

—Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Jeffris have returned home from their wedding tour, having been somewhat detained by the recent snow blockade in Indiana, and are now "at home," at the residence of Hon. and Mrs. W. A. Lawrence, South Main street.

—To-morrow will be Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent. There will be service and a sermon in Trinity church at 10:30 a. m and 7:30 p. m. Service also in the chapel Thursday and Saturday at 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., Friday, at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

—Hon. J. W. Ostrander, of Jefferson, secretary of the Wisconsin Odd Fellows' insurance company, will be in the city to-morrow evening, and will visit Wisconsin Lodge No 14, and would be pleased to see as many of the brethren as can make it convenient to be present.

—Parties holding invitations to the masquerade to be held at the Concordia hall, on Tuesday evening, February 17th, can procure costumes over Frank Shearer's drugstore, from 2 to 10 p. m. Madame Franzel will furnish the costumes. Parties holding invitations can procure tickets at Wall King's and Jos. Hoffmeister's.

—We regret to announce that Mrs. R. L. Colvin still remains in a low condition. At times there are glimmering signs of a return to consciousness, and during the day she seemed to take medicine more freely than on yesterday, and once in a while would appear to respond to questions asked her. These facts warrant the hope of her recovery.

—Mrs. Bridget Donely died at her home on South Franklin street yesterday, of consumption. Deceased had been a patient sufferer for the past two years, and leaves two daughters Misses Kittie and May, and one son, Mr. Michael Donely, to mourn her death. The funeral will take place at St. Patrick's church at nine o'clock to-morrow morning, Rev. Father McGinnity officiating.

—The remains of Mrs. Burke, of Chicago, mother of the late Mrs. Garrett Veeder, of this city, who died in Chicago on Saturday, arrived here on the 1:20 train, and were taken direct from the cars to Oak Hill cemetery for burial. A number of the friends of Mr. Veeder's family assembled at the depot, and accompanied the remain to their final resting place.

—Prof. Monroe was at the K-C-no rink last evening and delighted the audience with some very handsome movements on the roller skates. The Catholic band was present and furnished music for the occasion. The crowd was too large for the hall, and it was with considerable exertion that a person could move, whether on or off skates.

—The funeral of the late C. P. Richardson took place at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the residence of his son, Mr E. B. Richardson, South Main street and was attended by a large number of friends of the family. Rev. W. F. Brown, of the Presbyterian church, conducting the services. The remains were taken to the cars at 1:30 o'clock and conveyed to Lowell, Dodge county. for burial.

—The examination of the Rice brothers charged with the murder of Larry Boylan, of Magnolia, Feb. 8, was adjourned last evening until two o'clock to-morrow afternoon, to give Dr. Bennett, of Magnolia, time to hold a post mortem examination on Boylan's body to ascertain the nature of the wounds. A large number of people from Magnolia were in attendance at the examination yesterday afternoon.

The young people to the number of over one hundred and fifty couples, assembled at the Guards' armory last evening and participated in the social dance given by the St. Patrick's T. A. and B. society, as the closing party of the season. The party was one of the largest and gayest that has been held in the city for a long time, Anderson's orchestra furnished the music and Geo. Shurtleff provided the supper, and all the large company enjoyed a most happy social evening, the society realizing a handsome sum for its treasury.

—The Advance, of Chicago: "After a happy and successful pastorate at Sedalia for more than five years, during which period the church has more than doubled in membership, and this number mostly on profession of their faith, Rev. Allen J. VanWagner resigns, to accept a unanimous and hearty call to the pastorate of the church at Janesville, Wis. This action of Mr. VanWagner's is purely voluntary, and is taken in the hope of restoring the health of his wife, and to secure the change and rest he greatly needs. He leaves the church at Sedalia without a jar, and to the regret of all."

—A letter mailed to Paris, France, by the Gazette printing company January 21st, was returned to-day. The letter was received in Paris Feb. 3d, and remailed from that city Feb. 5th, arriving in New York Feb. 14th. The snow blockade don,t seem to interfere with the trans-Atlantic route. French people ought to be satisfied with the dispatch used in their postal service. If foreign correspondence isn't allowed to linger around the Paris post office more than forty-eight hours, it must require a pretty lively Frenchman to capture his mail.

—Major F. F. Stevens has received an invitation to the "Reception Imperial" at New Orleans this evening. The invitation card is handsomely lithographed, while the envelope is far ahead of anything over attempted for an occasion of this kind. Folded it represents a Sibley military tent, striped colors; when unfolded represents an imperial throne, the top forming a beautiful canopy; figures representing prominent characters in mythology and knight heraldry form the decorations of the interior of the tent or envelope. The lithographs which are in bright colors, represent the finest chromatic work ever seen in this country, and in point of artistic execution, surpass any thing that Prang has ever been able to issue from his famous Boston establishment. The card and envelope were executed in Paris, and in attractiveness and artistic merit, are supreme and incomparable, and furnish a most valuable souvenir of the New Orleans "reception imperial" of 1885.

THE PENSION ACT.

As Discussed in the Lime Kiln Club at Their Last Regular Meeting.

The Lime Kiln club dates back for its origin to an early period, and is recognized as one of the primitive organizations in the history of the county. The principal offices have been filled for a number of years by a chairman, treasurer and clerk; the last two named are salaried positions and are considered desirable. For the last eight years both these offices have been filled by worthy incumbents, who seemed willing to continue as long as their services were needed. The club requires of one of the salaried officials the additional duty of purchasing supplies; this work is not very arduous, as the wants of the organization are not numerous, and the members are most of them willing to furnish anything they have to sell at a trifling advance above cost; but the club are generous in their disposition and willing to pay for all services rendered. The treasurer receives for his services what cigars he wants to smoke, and twenty-five dollars in money as his yearly allowance, while the clerk, who is a strictly moral man and not a smoker receives fifty dollars, and half the proceeds for initiating new members, which amounts to much more than his salary. The annual election of officers occurs in July, and eight years ago last summer when the question of who should buy the supplies for the club was under discussion, it was decided to offer it to the treasurer at a salary of fifty dollars per year. The clerk, who is a very economical man, volunteered to do this extra work gratuitously, and the club accepted the generous proposition.

Time rolled on and year after year the two salaried officers were reelected, and all went "merry as a marriage bell," or words to that effect, At the meeting for election of officers last July, it was thought wise to retire the efficient clerk, much to the disgust of that worthy individual, who had come to believe that the club would disorganize unless he stood at the helm and guarded its interests with a vigilance which had become a second nature to him. The club believed that some other man might be found who could attend to the duties, and so the incumbent of eight years experience was requested to retire.

The meeting of which we write was called to take action on the following preamble and resolution:

WHEREAS, The books of the club show that for 10 years preceding the election of the man whom we delight to honor, it cost the club several dollars more for various luxuries than it has for the past eight years, and inasmuch as the worthy gentleman of whom I speak has never received any pay for valuable services rendered as buyer for the club, we deem it proper and right to pay for such valuable services, therefore

Resolved, That the sum of $400 be and hereby is appropriate to the retiring clerk as a slight token of esteem by the club.

These resolutions called out a lively discussion and resulted in an indefinite postponement, but, fortunately for the party interested, the club is well organized, and possesses among other convenient articles, a committee on claims. This committee very considerately conferred with the disappointed official and allowed the claim. The club believes in harmony, and after everything was settled satisfactorily, it was deemed proper to create an office for the worthy brother. who was about to say good bye to his desk and easy chair, and so by silent consent at the suggestion of a veteran member he was made the permanent buyer, at the moderate salary of $100 per year Ten hours a day would be sufficient to accomplish the work, and his successor being a new man at the business, was liable to be imposed upon by sharpers. A glow of satisfaction lighted up the countenance of the recipient of the newly created office, and the club all smoked at his expense.

The club adjourned at a late hour after deciding to discuss at their next meeting the question. "which is the cheapest, flour at $1.00, or crockery at $8.55. The newly elected buyer was instructed to order $10.85 worth of ice to cool off the members after a heated discussion.

The Weather.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 14 degrees below zero. Clear with southwest wind. At one p. m. the register was 15 degrees above zero. Clear, with south wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 32 and 40 degrees above zero.

Man wird alle Arzneien welche in dieser Zeitung angezeigt sind, bei Prentice & Evenson, gegenüber der Post-Office, Janesville, finden. Arzneien, die nicht flüssig sind, werden durch die Post versandt. Recepte und Verordnungen werden von reinen, frischen Medicamenten zubereitet und billiger als in irgend einer anderen verläßlichen Apotheke im County.

THE BOYLAN MURDER.

The Examination of the Rice Brothers, of Magnolia.

Charged With the Murder of Larry Boylan.

The examination of Clarence F. Rice one of the Rice brothers, who are charged with the murder of Larry Boylan on the 8th of February, at the town of Magnolia, is in progress in the municipal court. The examination commenced at 11 oclock yesterday the district attorney assisted by Wm. Smith, Esq., conducting the prosecution and J. W. Sale, the defense. The first witness sworn was George Lyon, who was present at the time of the alleged shooting. He testified substantially that he and the two Rice boys and Wesley Rice's wife and child were together in the house occupied by the Rice boys and which belongs to Aaron Broughton, about five o'clock in the afternoon of Feb. 8th. That about that time in the afternoon Larry Boylan came in and asked witness to go out with him to the stable; that Dennis his (Larry's) brother was out there intoxicated; that thereupon witness accompanied by the two Rice boys, Larry Boylan and Geo. Richmond, a neighbor's son, who lived across the road, went out and found Dennis Boylan lying under a shed on some hay; that witness tried to persuade Dennis to come into the house, but could not and returned with Larry to the house, and that shortly after the two Rice boys came in carrying Dennis and sat him down on a chair. Then Clarence Rice and Larry Boylan said they were going to Gibson's for some cider and took a four gallon beer keg and went out; they were gone some time, during which Wesley. Dennis, Mrs. Rice and witness ate their supper and after Clarence and Larry came back they ate theirs. After supper they commenced drinking cider. George Richmond was there and had his fiddle and played some and Dennis Boylan danced a jig and they were telling stories and singing songs and having a nice time; that finally Wesley Rice took offense at some of the stories and told the Boylan boys to quit their talk and get out of the house, which they refused to do, whereupon, a scuffle ensued, and finally the Boylans were shoved out doors; Wesley Rice took their hats and opened the door to hand them, and the Boylan boys took the opportunity to step inside again and sit down; that everything was quiet for quite a long time till John Synnett came in with a jug full of cider and all drank some of it, and then Larry Boylan commenced to sing a song which started the row again, and a fight took place between the Boylans and Synnett on one side, and the Rice boys on the other; the Rice boys seemed to be getting the worst of it and Clarence went into the buttery and Wesley went in the bed room with his wife; the parties on the outside commenced kicking and pushing against the doors, and after a while Wesley opened the bedroom door and said: "Now get out you ——— ——— or I'll pour lead into you," and fired a shot with a shot gun; then the two Boylan boys went out of the house and Clarence came out of the buttery and went into the bedroom, then come out and stepped to the outside door and fired another shot with a revolver; witness was sitting at the stove in the kitchen when the shoot was fired, but did not hear either of the Boylan boys say a word after the shot was fired and did not see any blood; after the Boylans had left witness and the two Rice boys looked around to see if any shot could be found in the walls of the room, but could not find any; witness heard Wesley say that he guessed he (Larry, carried the charge off in him; the next time witness saw Larry Boylan was the next day at Thos. Richmond's, right across the road from Rice's; Boylan was dead at that time; the shot gun and revolver used that night were produced in court and identified by the witness.

Mrs. Eliza T. Richmond was the next witness sworn. She testified that she resided with her husband, Thomas Richmond, directly across the road from the Rice's. About midnight of Feb. 8th witness heard a noise and a woman's scream, raised up in bed and looked out; saw a flash of light and heard a report; witness's husband then got up and the Boylan boys came to the door; Dennis said Larry was shot and husband helped him in and he staggered to a chair, he could not sit up and we got a straw tick and helped him down on it, and sent for his father and mother and the priest. He lived 12 hours and died at eight minutes before noon; the doctor got there about three or four o'clock in the morning and told him he thought he could not get well; he was in very great pain all the time till he died; when the doctor came, he gave him something which vomited him some, and could talk only by spells; at six o'clock the examination was adjourned to Wednesday at two o'clock, to allow time to hold a post mortem examination of the remains.

The examination attracted considerable interest, the court room being packed with listeners, many of whom are from the town of Magnolia, the scene of the tragedy.

FLOOD TIDE ON THE COAST.

Buildings in New York Inundated—The Highest Tide Ever Known.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—The steady rain and wind caused a higher tide in the harbor of this city Monday than ever before known. The damage done by the high water to goods in stores and cellars along the river front is very great, but no figure can be given at this time. Along West and South streets stores, restaurants and other places of business were closed on account of the water, which covered the floors in some instances to the depth of twenty inches. Passengers to and from the ferries were compelled to wade through water almost knee deep until temporary bridges could be provided. Vessels moored at the docks lay on a level with the piers and the street, and the loading and discharging of cargoes and transportation of vehicles by the various ferries, was for a time entirely suspended. The water along the river front in Jersey City was very high, and caused a suspension of business on the docks for several hours. Reports from Trenton, New Brunswick and other places in New Jersey state that great damage has been done by the rains and high water. Several mills at Trenton were closed owing to water appearing in various parts of the buildings. The damage done at Coney Island is believed to be very great, but no particulars have been received in this city.

High Tide in the Delaware.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 17.—The tide in the Delaware river Monday was the highest known since February 1876, and in many places the water overflowed the wharves and did considerable damage. The flood is due to the heavy snow and rains of the past few days, and the immense quantity of ice in the river. Although the ice is very heavy, it is sodden and rotten by the rains and easily crumbles under the paddles of ferryboats. At a late hour in the afternoon the water began to fall and no further damage is apprehended.

Three Feet of Snow.

UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 17.—Snow commenced falling early Sunday morning and is now three feet deep on a level. All east-bound trains on the Central are ordered to remain here until further orders. Large gangs of shovelers are trying to open the road to Albany.

The Destructive Ice Gorge.

ELKTON, Md., Feb. 17.—The giving away of ice gorges in the Big and Little Elks has caused this town to be partially inundated. The flood swept everything before it. The town is in darkness, owing to the gas works being drowned out.

Providence Flooded.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 17.—The storm has flooded many cellars and stores. Steamers are pumping them out. The damage is heavy. The river is still rising.

Wasn't the Right Man.

TOLEDO, Feb. 17.—John Delphey is on trial here, charged with assault and battery. Delphey has imagined himself deeply in love with Miss Nova Johnston, of this city, and well known in social circles of Ohio. The other day Delphey met her, and put his arms around her neck and kissed her. For this he was arrested for assault and battery. There was much surprise manifested when the defense put in a plea of insanity. The testimony developed a systematic persecution of Miss Johnston by Delphey, extending over a period of three years. Delphey is a graduate of Ann Arbor, and has been doing a law business in justices' courts for some years in this city. He is regarded as a bright fellow except in the one respect that led to his arrest. Delphey's father is a wealthy miller of Erie, Mich., while an uncle is a wealthy lawyer of Monroe, Mich. On account of the prominence of both parties, the affair creates much interest in this community.

Snow-Bound Theatrical People.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—There were no performances in six Chicago theatres Monday night on account of the failure of the billed combinations to arrive. Barry & Fay and Hallen & Hart were in a snow bank between here and Cincinnati. The former were to appear at the Academy of Music and the latter at the Olympic. Nell Burgess' Vim company was to have opened at the Standard, but were snow-bound on a St. Louis train sixty-five miles from town. Baylies & Kennedy's "Bright-Lights" disappointed an audience at the Peoples. They were still in Michigan. An "In The Ranks" company which should have appeared at the Criterion is on its way through the snow from Minneapolis.

Scientific Work with Daggers.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Before a small audience at Clarendon hall Monday, Capt. Charles Englehardt and Marc San Antonious fought out a combat of five rounds with six-inch double-edged daggers for $250 a side. The men were dressed with padded courasses and the usual fencing masks and gloves with a small shield on the left arm. A small bladder containing what was supposed to be blood was hung over the heart of each man. At the end of the fifth round when time was called, the score stood Englehardt four points, three for disarming and one for a cut. San Antonius had two points. There was very little excitement and the audience seemed to look upon the affair as a joke.

The Chicago Fraud Cases.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—In the election conspiracy trial Monday, chief defendant Mackin resumed the stand for cross-examination. He denied all knowledge of the fraud and that he ordered any bogus tickets printed and delivered to him as testified in the prosecution. J. J. Sullivan, the printer who testified Saturday that the day before election he printed bogus Republican tickets identical with those found in the stuffed box and was arrested, charged with perjury, was lodged in jail in default of bail. A warrant is out for Charles H. Gilmore, another of Saturday's witnesses for the defense, also charged with perjury.

Marshall, Ills., Burning Up.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—The Tribune has the following special:

MARSHALL, Ills., Feb. 17.—A terrible fire is raging in the business portion of the town. At the present writing (2 a. m.) it is impossible to tell how it will terminate. The loss will be thousands of dollars. [Marshall is the county seat of Clark county, and is about 130 miles southeast of Springfield and is within twenty-five miles of Terre Haute, Ind. Its population is about 2,500.]

The Latest Cold Wave.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—The severe snowstorm of Saturday night and Sunday, following upon that of last week, and succeeded by intense cold weather has again seriously interfered with railway traffic in this section. There are many delays and great irregularity. The mercury was 5 to 15 degrees below zero in Chicago during Monday.

The secretary of the general postoffice in London solicited information at Washington, in regard to the construction of postal cars and the manner of handling the mails, and Postmaster Gen. Hatton sent a complete description.

VARIATIONS.

To speak the words her tongue did falter
But all her tears and prayers were idle;
Her father forced her to the halter,
For he'd determined on the bridle.
She did not wish to stirrup strife,
And so her feelings she did smother;
But saddle be her married life—
She wedded one but loved another.

Soon the wintry winds will whistle
The town and country o'er,
And the young man and his miss'll
Not stand in the entry door.

But beyond, within the parlor,
They will seek love's blissful goal,
While the fire keeps a-burning
Up the old man's costly coal.

Moved by malapert and dunce;
But Alonzo seeks to walk
Two diverging ways at once.

With the utterance nature grants,
But his vowels all appear
Angry at the consonants.

Always with concern polite
We from vulgar speech have shrunk;

THE PROBLEM SOLVED.

How Two Wagon Trains Pass on the Same Track Out West.

[Chicago Herald "Train Talk."]

"Did you ever see two trains pass each other on the same track?" inquired a passenger from the west of the brakeman. That lordly official looked up contemptuously, grabbed another apple from the train-boy's basket, and deigned never a word in response.

"Oh, you needn't turn up your nose," said the passenger from the west; "there have been lots of thing done with trains that you never heard of. You fellows that sit down here and bob over the same hundred miles of track day after day and year after year can't be expected to know much anyhow. Now listen while I tell you how we pass two trains on the same track out west. I was on a mule train once going up to a mining camp. We were circling about a mountain when we met another train coming down. The road was just a bit of ledge in the mountain side, and was plenty wide for one wagon, but not quite wide enough for two.

"I was as green as you are, and couldn't see how we was to get out of the scrape. But the mule-whackers knew just what to do, and lost no time doing it. They got out their pine blocks, pulled the head wagons close together, set the brakes on one and put blocks under the wheels of the other. Then they started the mules up and pulled the hubs of one wagon right over the hubs of the other. The inside wagon was tight agin the rocks, while the tires of the outside wheels on t'other one were within half an inch of the edge of the precipice.

"It did my heart good to see those mules pull. The whole six of 'em would squat a little, tighten themselves in their collars, and pull gently, steadily together—steadier nor six men could of done it. Why, those mules knew just what they were doing, and they knew just as well as anybody that if they gave a jerk and slipped a wheel over the edge the whole concern, mules and all, would be 2,000 feet down the gorge. But after hub and wagon after wagon the work went on, and that's the way we pass two trains on the same track out west."

A Ghost Who Wants a Sleigh Ride.

READING, Pa., Feb. 16.—Bartville, Lancaster county, is excited over a startling story. Some time ago "Barney" Short, a farmer, was murdered. His son was accused of the murder, but was acquitted. The man was murdered while he was going home in a sleigh from Lancaster. This sleigh has been sold and the purchaser has lent it to several different persons who say that they have been followed by an apparition with outstretched arms and with a pallid face crying out: "It's mine. I want it. I must have it." The spirit is dressed in heavy dark clothing, cap and woolen comforter.

Stood 'Em Off with a Six-Shooter.

MEMPHIS, Feb. 16.—J. M. Jackson, a levee contractor, had a difficulty with a gang of men in his employ near Sun Rise, Miss. The men, numbering about sixteen, tried to kill Jackson, who was armed with a six-shooter. He was fired upon by the crowd, who tried to close in upon him. Jackson, who is a sure shot, discharged his pistol with deadly effect. He fired six shots and struck a man each time, three of whom have since died. After emptying his pistol Jackson fled, but returned and surrendered himself to the officers of the law. At his trial he was acquitted by a jury, as the proof showed he acted in self-defense.

The Russian Advance.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—It is reported that the government has official information to the effect that Russian troops have advanced to a position within three days' march of Herat, in Afghanistan. The morning papers contain leading articles calling attention to this new menace to England's interests and urging that the necessity of protecting the Indian frontier be not overlooked on account of the excitement over the Soudan campaign.

A Scratch Caused Her Death.

COLD SPRINGS, L. I., Feb. 11.—Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes, while peeling some oranges scratched her hand with the knife, and in a short time her arm began to swell and showed signs of inflammation. On Wednesday a physician was called in, but she continued to grow worse until she died Friday.

CUTICREAM.

A soothing and healing application for the cure of Roughness of the Skin, Chapped Hands or Face, Sore Lips, Freckles, Pimples, and eruption. It makes the skin soft, white and smooth, and is a superior substitue for Glycerine, Camphor Ice, Cold Cream or Vasaline. Being perfectly free from injurious substances or anything of a greasy or a sticky nature, it will not soil the most delicate fabric.

After washing and when the skin is perfectly dry apply the Cuticream, rubbing gently until it disappears. Ladies should use a small quantity before applying toilet powders, as it prevents any injurious effects and renders the powder nearly invisible. Gentlemen will find it an excellent application to prevent "razor pimples" and rough skin after shaving. Sold only by
